

PROPOSE A PROJECT

The Integrate Awards

Announcing grants + mentorship for science–faith projects

At ISCAST's Conference on Science and Christianity (COSAC 2024), ISCAST will award up to two prizes of $1000 each, to students who submit proposals for science–faith projects.

Each winner will also be given mentorship by an ISCAST Fellow or other senior academic.

The kind of science–faith project is up to you!

Here are some ideas:

- Make a video or a series of short videos for use in schools or churches.
- Write a series of articles for the popular media.
- Propose a practical or theoretical research project investigating some aspect of science and faith.
- Publish a peer-reviewed article in Christian Perspectives on Science and Christianity.
- Make a series of podcast episodes.
- Write a short story or novel (perhaps of science fiction) that deals with both science and religion.

Finalists will present their initial proposals at COSAC on 1 December 2024. Thus, they need to be attending. There will be a question/discussion time about each finalist's proposal, with the judges. Winners will be announced at the conclusion of COSAC.

While the following guidelines are flexible, we expect that:

- funding will be distributed to winners according to an agreed timeline to completion of the project;
- projects will be completed within one year,
- projects will serve the vision and mission of ISCAST.

Submission Details

Deadline:

9:00 a.m. Sunday 24 November

Submit to:

awards@iscast.org

Your proposal should be between 800 and 2500 words submitted in Word or PDF.

It should indicate:

- the nature and outcome of the project;
- how you plan to go about it;
- what the timeline is;
- and why you are the right person for the job.

Please also include, as a separate document, a brief resume or CV.

Whatever your idea is, feel free to talk to us about it as you are planning. We can give you advice about your draft proposal.

All enquiries: awards@iscast.org

ISCAST reserves the right to select the judges, whose decision will be final. In addition, in the event that the judges do not award the full amount, the remainder of the grant will be used for similar awards in the future.

Humanity 2.0? God, Technology, and the Future of Being Human

COSAC 2024 | 29 Nov – 1 Dec

 ISCAST
NEW COLLEGE

cosac.iscast.org